

ABSTRACT

A heating footstool having a hollow casing having an inclined top wall, the inclined top wall being angled relative to a ground surface so as to allow the feet of an intended user to ergonomically rest thereupon and a heating means mounted within the hollow casing for heating the inclined top.